March 2018

Audit New Zealand updates

Our high performing and accountable public sector

Greg Schollum, Deputy Controller and Auditor-General

Coming up

- Public sector performance and accountability
- Issues affecting the public accountability system
- How our Office is responding
- Some thoughts about our work programme

Question one

What's more damaging to trust and confidence in the public sector:

- poor performance; or
- poor behaviour?

Public sector performance and accountability

Question two

What can we do to not only stay on top of the Corruption Perceptions rankings, but to achieve a score of 100 – or close to it?

NEW ZEALAND / CRIME

Former senior ministry official jailed for $723k fraud

7:14 pm on 21 February 2017

A woman who defrauded the Ministry of Transport of over $700,000 has been sentenced to three and a half years in prison.

Joanne Harrison was stood down from her senior role within the ministry in April last year, when the fraud was discovered.

A Serious Fraud Office investigation found she used invoices to pay entities linked to her and defraud the Crown of $723,000.

Murray may have spent more than officially recorded - Audit NZ

6:46 pm on 30 November 2017

The former head of the Waikato District Health Board (DHB), who resigned part-way through an investigation into his excessive travel costs, may have spent more than the official record shows, according to Audit NZ.

Saturday, 25 March 2017

Defamation case against Little going ahead

News > National

Defamation proceedings against Labour Party leader Andrew Little by National Party donors and hoteliers Earl and Lani Hagaman will proceed.

Mr Little publicly apologised yesterday after the Auditor-general found no link between a donation made by the couple and a hotel management contract.

Question three

Are you reporting – and are we auditing – the information that matters most to New Zealanders?

How we're responding

The Auditor-General's strategic intentions to 2025

Auditor-General's strategy 2018 to 2021

Reflections from our audits: Investment and asset management

B.29 [17j]

Border security: Using information to process passengers

B.29[17u]

Using information to improve social housing services

Introducing our work programme – Water management

Procurement

Questions for you:

What is more damaging to trust and confidence in the public sector: poor performance, or poor behaviour?

What can we do to not only stay on top of the Corruption Perceptions rankings, but to achieve a score of 100 – or close to it?

Are you reporting – and are we auditing – the information that matters most to New Zealanders?